

Pressure Ulcer Prevention!

Across

2. In this pressure injury you can see the patients' bone and muscle tissue. What stage pressure ulcer is this?

3. A patient has a wound that is pink or red, moist, either intact or a ruptured blister. What stage pressure ulcer is this?

7. This pressure injury is covered with a black substance (eschar).

8. A patient is bedbound and has a Braden score less than 18. What type of system should they be on?

9. What ointment would you use for a stage two pressure injury?

11. This pressure injury has adipose tissue (fat) present, rolled wound edges. What stage pressure ulcer is this?

12. What ointment would you use for a stage three or four pressure injury?

Down

1. How frequently patients should be turned?

4. A patient has blanchable or non-blanchable redness on their heels. What stage pressure ulcer is this?

5. What ointment would you use for an unstageable pressure injury?

6. This moisture _____ cream is commonly used for incontinence associated dermatitis.

10. What dressing should you put on a patient that is a high risk for skin breakdown?