

Psychology Crossword

Across

5. When smaller bit of information join together to make larger ones

6. Where visual information is put in the sensory memory

9. Keeping information in the memory where and when needed

13. The idea that physical changes happens to the brain when information is going from STM to LTM

14. Where large amounts of information is stored

15. A prompt that is involved to r covering information

16. Where information is received and encoded

17. The information retrieved from LTM

Down

1. The information that was last taken in

2. Information being sectioned into particular groups

3. Converting information into particular forms

4. Identification of a certain piece or multiple pieces of information

7. The entry point of the memory system

8. The process where something is repeatedly gone over to be memorised

10. Finding and recovering information

11. Stores sounds in the sensory memory

12. The information that is first taken in