

Rights - Chapter 15

Across

- 5. Rights not expressly stated in the Australian Constitution but are considered to exist through interpretation by the High Court.
- 7. A set of rules and principles that guide the way Australia is governed.
- 9. A false common law principle that Australia belonged to no one when the British first arrived in Australia.
- 10. A document, signed by countries (states) or international organisations, in which they undertake to follow the law set out in the document and include it in their own local laws.

Down

- 1. A non-binding agreement between countries which sets out the aspirations (hopes) of the parties to the agreement.
- 2. The Charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act 2006 (Vic). Its main purpose is to protect and promote human rights.
- 3. The litigant must be directly affected by the issues or matters involved in the case for the court to be able to hear and determine the case.
- 4. A document that sets out the basic rights of citizens in a particular state or country.
- 6. Rights that are stated in the Australian Constitution. They can only be changed by referendum.
- 8. A law made beyond (i.e. outside) the powers of the parliament.