

Scalp Care, Shampooing and Conditioning

Across

2. Also known as powder shampoo.
 5. This type of shampoo contains chelating agents that bind to metals.
 8. The main ingredient in most shampoos is...?
 9. The 2 basic requirements for a healthy scalp are cleanliness and...?
 13. If you find open wounds when performing a hair and scalp consultation you should refer the client to a...?
 14. Water is classified as a...because it is capable of dissolving more substances than any other.
 17. The 2 types of draping are shampoo and ... draping.
 18. The most abundant element on Earth is...?

21. Correct hair brushing stimulates...to the scalp.
 22. This allows soap to lather freely.
 23. The head of a surfactant molecule is...?
 24. this type of shampoo contains ingredients that are effective in reducing dandruff.

Down

1. One of the most important experiences a stylist provides is...?
 3. Brushing helps remove dust, dirt and hairspray build up from hair and gives added...?
 4. Dandruff is the visible shedding of skin cells and the result of a fungus called...?
 6. Excessive oiliness is caused by overactive...?

7. ...is a method of manipulating th scalp by rubbing, tapping, kneading, or stroking it.
 10. The most highly recommended hairbrushes are those made from...?
 11. Most conditioners contain...which promote the retention of moisture.
 12. The tail of a surfactant molecule is...?
 15. This is the most widely purchased of all hair care products.
 16. This type of shampoo is balanced to the pH of hair and skin.
 19. This type of conditioner provides gentle cleansing while providing extra nourishment for the hair.
 20. The cleansing or surface active agents in shampoos are known as...?