

Name: _____

Security and Privacy

Across

2. A device containing a built-in battery that provides continuous power to a computer and other connected components when electricity goes out
6. A technology that encrypts everything stored on a storage medium without any user interaction
7. The use of online communication to bully another person
9. A written plan that describes the steps a company will take following the occurrence of a disaster
10. A device that protects a computer system from damage due to electrical fluctuations

Down

1. The complete malfunction of a computer system
3. A hard drive that uses full disk encryption
4. A device that is designed to withstand much more physical abuse than a conventional device
5. A software program or app that enables a device owner to disable that device remotely
8. Repeated threats or harassing behavior between adults carried out via email or another Internet communication method