Sources of Business Finance

Across

 Capital required to carry out daily activities smoothly in the business
 These shares have first right to receive dividend from company's profit
 These are issued by Government to meet long term financial requiement
 Is an axis around which all financial activities rotate

12. This source of finance is useful in the times of recession

13. Loan approved against the security of stocks and personal properties 14. Amount invested by owner in business

15. These Equity shares are allotted to its directors, persons with specialized knowledge and to employees

16. This source of finance is a useful tool to satisfy the needs of long term and medium term finance

18. These debentures are issued with charge on assets of company

19. Shares having last right to receive dividend as well as capital

20. Deposit given by one company to another company which is in need of fund

21. Long term investments made for the assets of the business unit
22. This source is important for providing short term working capital Down

1. They were set up to satisfy the large and long term capital requirements of the country which individual owners and commercial banks cannot satisfy

2. This source of finance is considered as "Fair weather friends"

3. In this type of fund rate of return is uncertain

5. These debentures can be converted fully or partially into shares

7. Facility of withdrawing more money from the current account

8. Facility under which a business unit purchases from other producers or traders on credit

11. One of the main financial institutions

17. These preference shares are redeemed before or after 20 years