

Sport Education Model

Across

- 2. Provides general team leadership
- 4. In competitions, two or more teams compete while one team acts as a duty team.
- 12. If the sport is to be developmentally appropriate; then modification of the tasks and environment must occur.
- 13. The season is designed to be festive. This may include the creation of a team name, colors, logo, t shirt, and awards.
- 14. Know common injuries associated with a sport
- 16. Time is divided into "seasons".
- 17. Write match reports
- 18. Assume the administrative functions of ongoing team responsibilities

- 19. Seasonal champions are typically determined by a point system. Points may be awarded for sportsmanship, teamwork, duty team performance, scoring, wins, and tournament victories.
- 20. A season typically consists of a series of competitions. For instance, a soccer season might start with 1v1 competitions, then 2v2, and finish with 4v4 formal competition.

Down

- 1. Students are organized into mixed ability teams at the start of the season and maintain their affiliation throughout the season
- 3. Lead team warm ups
- 5. Teams are gradually introduced to the activity, focusing on the techniques and tactics needed to perform adequately in the activity.
- 6. Collect and Return team equipment

- 7. Compile records and statistics and publicize them.
- 8. Introduce players before competition
- 9. A "season ending" activity is placed on the schedule as a target for culminating performance. A measure of "festivity" surrounds the event. This event is similar to the Super Bowl for football, World Cup for soccer, and US Open for tennis.
- 10. Represent the team on the field in conversations with the officials.
- 11. Students on each team learn multiple roles. Sport Education assigns students more roles than is typical for youth sport, where the only role is that of "player."
- 15. Records are kept to determine standings and inform students of their own progress.
