

Surgical Radiography Crossword

Across

2. Rod or nail inserted in to this canal to reduce a fracture during a femur nail
4. Type of fusion using rods, plates, and screws to stabilize surgically altered vertebrae.
8. Cardinal principle of radiation protection requiring the technologist to be as far away from C-arm as possible
10. Responsible for maintaining the integrity, safety, and efficacy of the sterile field (2 words)
12. Sterile area between the draped patient and the instrument table
15. Monitors and coordinates all activities in the OR, preferably and RN
16. mode on C-arm that contributes to dose reduction

17. Procedure done to fix severely broken bones by an orthopaedic surgeon by means of inserting rods, nails, plates and screws (acronym)
19. Procedure to alleviate pain caused by neural impingement
20. Knee in this position during a Tibia Nail to allow access to the tibial tuberosity
21. C-arm unit provides this type of guidance during open fracture reductions for aligning bone fragments
23. Long metal tube used in operative cholangiography
24. Condition caused by degenerative changes that result in enlargement of the facet joints (2 words)
25. To determine the exact spot of foreign bodies

Down

1. Type of surgery to resect the pituitary gland; through the sphenoid sinus

3. Imaging test that uses x-ray and contrast to view inside arteries
5. Inserted to the intramedullary canal through the greater trochanter
6. Surgical procedure to restore function of a joint. ex. total hip replacement
7. Proximal femur fracture between the lesser and greater trochanters
9. Specially prepared area of operating room that immediately surrounds the patient (2 words)
11. Laparoscopic procedure where three/four incisions are made in the URQ
13. Portion of spine after the thoracic spine
14. C-arm alignment for lateral projection of lumbar laminectomy
18. Worn in all areas of the OR to contain hair
22. Licensed physician specially trained and qualified to perform surgical procedures