

Test Review #passthetest

Across

1. This type of hazard poses a risk to humans and animals through contamination of living organisms through body tissues and fluids.
8. American Veterinary Medical Association
10. bacterium, virus, or fungus are examples of these
11. This piece of PPE protect the eyes.
13. Veterinary Nurse
14. reduction of number of pathogenic microorganisms on object to harmless level

Down

2. a person who specializes in animal nutrition, which is especially concerned with the dietary needs of animals in captivity: livestock, pets, and animals in wildlife rehabilitation facilities
3. destruction of all organisms on an object including spores
4. physically removing all visible signs of dirt and organic matter such as feces, blood, hair, etc.

5. reduction of number of microorganisms on object to acceptable public health standard
6. These uninvited creatures can induce and spread disease, carry infectious parasites and contaminate food and water
7. Glass, Needles, and surgical blades are examples of these.
9. A first _____ is made in 7 seconds
12. This chemical is used to clean guinea pig, rabbit, and hamster cages due to urine scale.