

Name: _____

The Nervous System, Endocrine System, and The Eye

Across

1. What gives nutrients to the eye and maintains pressure?

7. The primary function of this is to control the amount of light passing through the eye

11. Do people with hyperopia need a positive or negative lens?

12. What hormone is secreted by the hypothalamus to trigger the pituitary gland to release TSH?

13. What carries an impulse signals long distances in a neuron?

14. Too low of cortisol results in?

15. What is another name for an interneuron?

Down

2. What tricks the brain by using arrangement of images, color effects, and light source?

3. What is an afferent neuron?

4. What area in the frontal lobe allows the production of speech?

5. What is the brain chemical that communicates information throughout the body?

6. Too high of T3/T4 can lead to?

8. Each hormone travels in the blood looking for?

9. Exocrine means?

10. What neurological disease involves burst of electricity that causes involuntary responses?