

Name: _____ Date: _____

The Secret Hum of a Daisy

Across

- 1. The only man Grandma has shown any interest in ever since her husband died in the car accident
- 3. The theory Grace believed in that explained why her mother said she started living the day Grace was born
- 6. What Grace felt like she'd be doing to her mother if she gave Grandma a chance
- 7. A moment when Grace and Grandma seemed to connect for once because they confessed to one another they both do this
- 8. Where the first of very few photos in the family photo album was taken
- 12. The title of a fountain Mother had made in the meadow by Grace's school
- 13. The sculpture of a bird that Grace's mother loved the most and made out of nervous habit

- 15. Grandma's main occupation/hobby ever since she lost most of her friends and family; it could keep her busy the whole day
- 16. The "utensil of comfort" Mama had used in all her sculptures of cranes or any other bird
- 18. Despite being her best friend, she was the girl Grace compared herself to because she had all the opportunities Grace can not experience
- 19. According to Grace, these were the only pair of decent shoes she owned; These same shoes were worn to her mother's funeral
- 20. Mama's hometown

- 21. What Grace did in situations to help calm herself

Down

- 2. The first child in Grace's second grade class to say her theory about the storks was bonkers

- 4. The object that was hidden within the first unfinished crane Mother made

- 5. It is the type of flower Grandma says is the "proper funeral flower"

- 9. What one of the first conversations Grace had with her Grandmother that was slightly decent was about; one of Grandma's pets

- 10. The flowers Mama said spoke in a kind of song or humming that seemed to have the ability to draw in birds

- 11. The first person to give Grace an idea of what her father was really like

- 14. The woman Grace had just met for the first time after the death of her mother

- 17. Sheriff Bergum's habit he displays mainly around Grandma