

Name: _____

Date: _____

The processing Cycle

Across

2. A thin circular mylar wafer sandwiched between two sheets of cleaning tissue
4. What has a variety of different technologies that allow them to be smaller thinner and lighter
8. What is called a group of sectors
12. Is a numbered section or portion of a disk similar to a slice of pie
13. A secondary storage medium on which data is recorded and read by two lasers
14. The most common hard copy output device
15. What enables a user to enter data and programs into a computer system

18. A nonimpact printer that forms images by spraying thousands of tiny droplets

19. Can record and store images in a digitized form that can be entered into and stored by a computer

20. What can be inserted to add new capabilities to the computer

Down

1. Is the component that processes information

3. Consists of one or more rigid metal platters mounted on a metal shaft and sealed in a container

5. Used to write data and read data from the tape

6. What can capture images of people , scenery, and documents

7. The permanent storage of computer programs , files, and data using secondary storage

9. A relatively small and inexpensive computer designed for an individual user

10. What is a hard copy output device used to output special kinds of hard copy

11. Data that can be retrieved in any order is called ?

16. A plug-in slot on a computer

17. Is a special type of dedicated processor designed to perform certain kinds of processing