

Name: _____

Date: _____

Tooth Development

Across

2. stage of tooth development that occurs during the sixth and seventh week of prenatal development

4. physiological process that occurs to its furthest extent during the bell stage

6. known as the primordium of the tooth

7. during this stage four different types of cells are present within the enamel organ

8. guides root formation

10. structure responsible for root development

Down

1. formed from the apposition of cementum over dentin

3. enamel secreting cells

5. angled part of each ameloblast that secretes enamel matrix

9. the dental papilla produces dentin and ____