

Touching Spirit Bear

Across

- 2. expressing very strong hatred or anger
- 5. used to describe an angry or unhappy person who does not want to talk, smile, etc.
- 3. refusing to obey something or someone
- 5. an object, often a small representation of something familiar, as an animal or person, for children or others to play with; plaything
- 7. to smile in an unpleasant way because you are pleased with yourself, glad about someone else's trouble, etc

- 9. of or relating to young people who have committed crimes
- 10. a person, typically one more remote than a grandparent, from whom one is descended
- 12. something that covers or hides something
- 13. a piece of land surrounded by water
- 14. something that is believed to be a sign or warning of something that will happen in the future
- 15. to completely relax the muscles of your body because you are very tired, upset, etc.

Down

- 1. speak to someone or about something in a scornfully derisive or mocking way
- 4. said, done, or given in an unwilling or doubtful way
- 6. to force someone to go away as punishment
- 8. to become unsteady because of weakness, emotion, tiredness, etc
- 11. used to describe an angry or unhappy person who does not want to talk, smile, etc.