

Name: _____

Date: _____

Transcultural Nursing Crossword Puzzle

Across

4. A type of medical practice believing the body is expected to heal itself using the healing power of nature
5. Tradition _____ medicine views the human body in terms of channels
7. A process of introducing special needles to allow for free flow of qi in an attempt to improve health
10. A type of nursing focusing on culturally clinical competence.

11. A medicine collection of techniques and systems based on the central tenet that humans are _____ systems that manifest the universal life force.

12. _____ health care refers to a blending of conventional and complementary approaches to health that address body, mind, spirit, and environmental relationship.

13. The five elements of Traditional Chinese Medicine are earth, metal, fire, wood & _____

Down

1. manipulation

2. The process of people learning and adopting behaviors of a different culture as a result of close contact

3. A hollow organ, a physiological way station in TCM.

6. When Qi flows freely through meridians, the body is considered _____.

8. A controversial treatment of spinal manipulation

9. In TCM, each body organ is classified as _____, solid and crucial in its function.