

Name: _____

Date: _____

-----Unit 3 Choice board Activity-----Stephanie M Castro

Across

2. Bias ads in a misleading nature used to promote a particular political cause
 3. People who side with the winning political party
 6. All the people in a country who are entitled to vote in an election
 8. Democrats and republicans
 9. Media that reaches large audiences
 11. Electors are chosen by popular vote, then electors vote for candidate
 12. When voting for president each candidate will be on opposing parties; democrat and republicans
 14. An official chosen by the people to preside the country
 18. The platform in which as presidential candidate states the issues that they'll focus on
 20. Formerly enter as a candidate for an election

21. Being in favor of one thing compared to another
 23. To enlist a person in an activity
 25. Focus on a cause and gives money to candidates who make promises to work on their cause
 26. An organized course of action to achieve presidency
 27. Left side of political spectrum, open to change
 28. Less gov. regulation, conservative views, funds military
 29. Focus on. a topic that doesn't get attention from other political parties

Down

1. The executive ranking below and deputizing for president
 4. An organization put together by likeminded individuals for or against a candidate

5. More Gov. regulation, Liberal views, Funds social programs
 7. In 48 states, whoever wins the most electoral votes, takes them all
 10. Right side of political spectrum, traditional values
 13. Activities associated with government and political parties
 15. People who side with the losing political party
 16. A person who has the right the vote during an election
 17. The selection of a person for office by a public vote
 19. A person appointed to supervise candidates during elections
 22. To analyze information to ultimately come to a conclusion
 24. Apply to a higher court for a reversal of the decision of a lower court