

Name: _____ Date: _____ Period: _____

Vocab 3

Across

4. Type of removable disk that looks like a cd but can hold approximately 4.7 GB.
7. Medical Condition Caused by repetitive strain or pinching of the nerves in your wrist.
8. Type of removable storage that is sturdier than the floppy disk and can hold approximately 700 MB.
13. Bar across the bottom of the screen that displays open programs, time, and other special controls.
15. Size paper- the most common size of paper which is 8.5 wide X 11 long.
16. A pack of 500 sheets of paper.
19. Printer that uses an electrical charge to heat a powdered ink to create images on the paper.
21. Printer which uses tiny pins to strike an ink ribbon and paper. All images are created from a series of tiny dots.
24. Will make your current window large enough to fill your screen.
27. Powered ink used in laser printers.

28. Type of removable storage that plugs directly into the USB port of your computer.

29. Piece of equipment that transfers information onto a piece of paper or other material.

30. The process of organizing files into folders.

31. The Main screen of your computer that contains all program icons

Down

1. Type of removable storage that is a plastic square sleeve containing a thin, flexible plastic disk.
2. The Process of entering a username and password so we can work on the computer.
3. Will close your current window.
5. Very small type of removable storage disk
6. Printer that sprays ink onto the paper.
9. Will minimize your current window into a button on the taskbar.
10. Special coated paper that is used in thermal printers. The image is burned onto the paper in a series of small dots.

11. The second most common size of paper which is 8.5 wide X 14 long.

12. A three letter code automatically placed after a filename to identify the program that was used to create the file.

14. A small picture that correspond to a program

17. Process by which gears feed paper out of a dot matrix printer.

18. Printer that does not use ink, toner, or ribbon. This type of printer is often used for receipts.

20. Moving pictures or text that appears on your screen after several minutes of inactivity to help prevent images from permanently discoloring the screen of the monitor.

22. A group of computers all linked together

23. Storage on your computer that holds all files after you delete them.

25. The way a computer user sits and types; also the way a workstation is arranged.

26. Material you are typing from