

Vocab 5 Part 1

Across

2. Addition of an adjacent, coordinate, explanatory or descriptive element
 3. Omission of a word or short phrase easily understood in context
 8. Creating a list of items using similar grammatical form
 12. Placing contrasting words next to each other
 15. A statement that is self-contradictory on the surface, yet seems to evoke a truth nonetheless
 16. Series of similarly structured elements having the same length
 17. To make a change without interruption from one activity, topic, scene, or part to another
 19. Repetition of the same word or group of words at the beginning of successive clauses, sentences,

22. An artful deviation from the normal arrangement of words

Down

1. Similarity of structure in a pair or series of related words, phrases, or clauses
 4. A form of expression used to convey meaning or heighten effect
 5. Juxtaposition of contrasting words or ideas (often, though not always, in parallel structure)
 6. repetition of the same word or clause after intervening matter. More strictly, repetition at the end of a line, phrase, or clause of the word or words that occurred at the beginning of the same line, phrase, or clause
 7. Generally, the arrangement of words, phrases, or clauses in an order of increasing importance, often in parallel structure
 9. Ending a series of lines, phrases, clauses, sentences, or with the same word or words

10. The omission of conjunctions between clauses, often resulting in a hurried rhythm or vehement effect

11. Employing many conjunctions between clauses, often slowing the tempo or rhythm
 13. An artful deviation from the normal arrangement of words
 14. Repetition of words, in successive clauses, reverse grammatical order
 18. The repetition of the last word from the previous line, clause, or sentence at the beginning of the next
 20. Insertion of a verbal unit that interrupts normal syntactical flow
 21. Placing two ordinarily opposing terms adjacent to one another