

Name: _____

Date: _____

Week 3 Assignment

Across

3. When a patient's appearance takes on a bluish color, especially in the nail beds and mucous membranes of the mouth, the patient is described as:

7. While taking radiographs on a trauma patient, you should be especially alert for signs of:

8. CVA is the abbreviation for a term that refers to

9. When a diabetic patient has taken the usual dose of insulin, but has not eaten, he or she may feel faint and weak and may show signs of sweating and tremors. The term for this condition is:

10. Which of the following positions is considered safe for a patient who is nauseated and may vomit?

11. 110/78 mm Hg is a typical measurement for which of the following vital signs?

Down

1. A patient who reports that he feels as if the room is spinning is experiencing:

2. The term for loss of bladder or bowel control is:

4. Your patient collapses on the floor in front of you. After shaking him or her and calling his or her name without any response, you decide to activate the code system. Which standardized code would be the most appropriate code for you to call?

5. What is the name of the position in which the patient is lying supine with the head lower than the feet?

6. Epistaxis is another name for: