

What do you remember from Y12?

Across

- 3. what Bowlby called children characterised by lack of normal affections, shame or sense of responsibility
- 7. The number of juveniles included in Bowlby's study
- 8. When behaviours are learned through reinforcement
- 10. The founder of positive psychology
- 11. the last part of our personality to form according to Freud

- 12. the procedure of drilling a hole on each side of the skull and inserting an "ice-pick" to destroy nerve fibres

Down

- 1. one ethical issue in Loftus and Palmer's experiment
- 2. an assumption of the biological approach
- 4. when we attribute undesirable thoughts to someone else

- 5. How can we describe Raine's experiment as he couldn't manipulate the IV
- 6. an assumption of the cognitive approach where organised packets of information built up through experience
- 9. the impulsive and unconscious part of our personality according to Freud