

Name: _____

Date: _____

Women In The 1920s

Across

7. There were cutbacks and many women were laid-off after the war, but by the 1920's wartime levels of _____ involvement were re-established

9. The Court of Appeal which ruled women where to be considered "persons" under the law.

10. Was the Supreme Court of Canada's ruling in favor or against the Famous Five?

12. This stated that only "qualified persons" could be appointed to senate, which in 1867 was understood to only refer to men

13. A lot more women were gaining this level of education, the number of women attending doubled in the 1920s

14. The only woman to win her seat during the 1921 election. She was the first woman to have a place in the House of commons

16. A movement in society and culture that represents a break in tradition and a search for new expression

17. Women who wore makeup, shorter dresses, cut their hair into bobs, went to jazz clubs, didn't wear corsets, usually angered older generations, and were usually shown smoking cigarettes

Down

1. Women who were activists and fought for their right to vote and believed through peaceful campaign they would achieve their goals.

2. Post-War, many changes occurred regarding women's fashion and style, as well as _____

3. The first medal won by Canada in the Olympics was won by a woman in 1928. This was a result of women becoming more _____ in sports organizations and athletic clubs

4. The Persons Case was a significant moment in History for _____

5. The Married Women _____ gave married women in Alberta the same legal capacity as men, meaning that the women who chose to marry no longer have to give up the rights to their properties

6. In 1925, this law was changed to allow women to obtain divorce on the same grounds as men

8. Emily Murphy's appointment as a magistrate was challenged because she was not considered a _____

11. Emily Murphy, Henrietta Edwards, Louise McKinney, Irene Parlby, and Nellie McClung

15. The expectations of women post-war changed drastically from those established _____