

Name: _____

Date: _____

Ch. 5 Infection Control

- | | |
|--|-----------------------|
| 1. a chemical process that uses specific products to destroy organisms on nonporous surfaces | A. disinfection |
| 2. capable of destroying fungi | B. sterilization |
| 3. caused by pathogenic (harmful) organisms that enter the body | C. virucidal |
| 4. capable of destroying bacteria | D. inflammation |
| 5. capable of destroying viruses | E. bactericidal |
| 6. unhealthy condition characterized by redness, heat, pain and swelling | F. HIV |
| 7. the process that completely destroys all microbial life, including spores | G. contamination |
| 8. the body's ability to destroy and resist infection | H. immunity |
| 9. the virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome (AIDS) | I. infectious disease |
| 10. the presence , or the reasonably anticipation presence, of bood or other potentially infectious materials on an items surface. | J. fungicidal |