

Name: _____

Date: _____

chapter 11 vocab envornmental science

Across

6. a condition in timber plantations in which trees are all different ages
7. a policy that states that the national forests must serve a number of uses
8. a method of harvesting trees in which all trees in an area are cut at once
9. a forest that has never been logged
10. the large-scale plantings of a single crop

Down

1. the process of setting fire to an area of forest under carefully controlled conditions; also called controlled burn
2. clearing a forest for another land use
3. the removal of dead trees following a natural disturbance
4. a condition in timber plantations in which all of the trees are the same age
5. a method of harvesting trees in which only some of the trees in a forest are cut at one time