

Name: _____

Date: _____

Period: _____

diamond's cross

Across

3. denotes the highest value in a group or set or function

5. is the center point in a line segment

13. Two things or values which are always equal

14. The number of times a particular value occurs in the set of values.

16. A number that is available more number of times in a group

17. a branch of mathematics in which one or more unknown values are found in the equation

18. the amount of revenue gained in a business activity exceeding all other expenses and cost

19. It is the total number of substance present in an object

20. is a whole number (not a fraction) that can be positive, negative, or zero

Down

1. the measurement from base to top or head to toe

2. the representation of a number in the form of a/b where a b are whole numbers

4. Rules and conditions in mathematics which are expressed using numbers and symbols

6. Calculation of the approximate value of the result

7. the process of doing repeated addition

8. can be defined as the statement which shows the equality of two expressions separated by equal sign

9. the conceptual study of numbers, symbols, quantities, structure and their related operations

10. A set of points in a plane in which the distance of a point from the center is same as the distance of the other points from the center

11. The total space inside the boundary of any object is called as the area of the object

12. the average of the numbers

15. the process of finding out the forthcoming steps or results on the basis of any proof or confirmation