

Name: _____ Date: _____ Period: _____

psychology vocabulary unit 3

Across

3. encoding that requires attention and conscious effort.
 5. the retention of encoded information in memory over time.
 11. the relatively perman
 13. the type of retrieval in which you must search for information that you previously stored
 14. the part of the mind comprising of material or information of which the individual aware.
 15. a technique used in storing information verbatim (word for word) in the short term memory; a studying technique usually based on repetition.
 16. brief, initial coding of sensory information in the memory system.

17. all mental process associated with thinking, knowing, and remembering.
 18. the process whereby the first few items on list are learnt more rapidly than the beginning or middle items.
 19. the part of your memory
 20. the tendency to recall the first and last items in a list more easily.

Down

1. the process whereby the first few items on list are learnt more rapidly than the middle or ending items.
 2. the process of getting information out of memory storage.
 4. a vivid, clear memory of an emotionally

6. the enhanced ability to retrieve information when you are in an environment.
 7. the part of the mind containing material or information that is only rarely accessible to awareness but that has a pronounced influence on behavior.
 8. the conscious repetition of information.
 9. the unconscious and effortless and process of encoding information such as space, time, and frequency.
 10. the process of getting information into the memory system.
 12. the mental capacity or ability or retaining